O P I N I O N

These appeals are made pursuant to section 19059 of the Revenue and Taxation Code from the action of the Franchise Tax Board in denying the claims of Malcolm L. and Lois M. Pedersen for refund of personal income tax in the amount of $45.00 for each of the years 1973 and 1974.

Appeals of Malcolm L. and Lois M. Pedersen

The issue presented in these appeals is whether appellants were entitled to the renter credit for 1973 and 1974.

Appellants owned a houseboat which they maintained as their principal residence throughout 1973 and until May, 1974, when the boat was sold. During this time they rented dock space and auxiliary facilities (i.e., bathroom and shower facilities, parking, etc.) for their boat in San Pedro, California.

Appellants claimed the renter credit on their 1973 state income tax return. Respondent initially disallowed the credit because appellants had claimed the homeowner's property tax exemption for their boat in 1973, but through an error the credit was later allowed and a refund thereof was given to the appellants. 'Later, respondent determined that it had made a mistake and issued a deficiency assessment to recover the refund. Appellants paid the assessment on November 25, 1975, and filed a claim for refund on December 3, 1975.

Appellants also claimed the renter credit on their 1974 return.. Again, respondent disallowed the credit because appellants had claimed the homeowners' property tax exemption for their boat in '1974. Appellants filed a claim for refund of the 1974 credit, also on December 3, 1975. Respondent denied appellants' claims for both years and these appeals followed.

During the years in question, section 17053.5 of the Revenue and Taxation Code allowed "qualified renters" with adjusted gross incomes of $8,000 or more to claim-a $45.00 annual credit against their personal income tax. The term "qualified renter" is defined in subdivision (c) of section 17053.5, which provides in part:

(c) For purposes of this section, a "qualified renter" means an individual who on March '1 of the taxable year-

Appeals of Malcolm L. and Lois M. Pedersen

(1) was a resident of this state, as defined in section 17014, and

(2) on such date rented and occupied premises in this state which constitute his principal place of residence.

The term 'qualified renter' does not include an individual who has been granted or whose spouse has been granted the homeowners' property tax exemption during the taxable year.

Since appellants admit that they received the homeowner's property tax exemption during both taxable years in question, they were not "qualified renters". Therefore, they were not entitled to the renter credit for either of the years under the plain language of section 17053.5.

Finding no merit in the various contentions made by the appellants, we must sustain respondent's action.

O R D E R

Pedersen for refund of personal income tax in the amount of $45.00 for each of the years 1973 and 1974, be and the same are hereby sustained.
